

I recently took the opportunity to reflect and realize how thankful I have been during this holiday season. In my quiet time, I thought about the last six months and how God has been moving, not only in my life but also in those around me. I realized a big part of that blessing has come through the Just Jesus Bible Study held at the Cliffords' home. By opening up their home and inviting Christ in, the Cliffords have provided a safe, loving environment where we can worship God and love one another.

There is an amazing group of women who meet together, bringing all different circumstances and situations - some joyful and some sorrowful - but the stories are always received by the others with love and grace. It has been an honor to see this body of Christ work together in order to support one another.

The freedom of the Holy Spirit that is released during the study has impacted me by giving me deeper faith and deeper confidence in the Holy Spirit, which, in turn, is teaching me to listen to my voice . . . the voice of Christ, Who is within me. It has been a great blessing, and I feel honored to be a part of it.
